ABOUT ME

I'm Sneha, originally from Kolkata, India. My academic journey led me to complete my B.A in Journalism and Mass Communication Honours. Passionate about effective communication and storytelling, I've since ventured into the dynamic world of web design. Blending my background in journalism with my newfound skills in web design, I strive to create engaging digital experiences that resonate with audiences. With a penchant for creativity and a commitment to usercentric design, I'm excited to continue evolving in this ever-changing field.
